

Jack Ezon, president of leisure travel for Manhattan-based Ovation Vacations, has seen his business grow by 53% in the five years since he started specializing in adventure travel. The biggest growth, he says, has come in family vacations. "I have a wealthy Generation X clientele, and they want to take their kids on active trips," he explains.